Condensation in your home?

New Zealand has one of the highest rates of respiratory illnesses in the world. In order to create a healthy environment for our families it is vital to ensure we have adequate ventilation in our homes. Control condensation in your home using HomeTech's positive ventilation system. By replacing stale air with fresh, dry air you can create a clean, healthy environment for your family.

- 70-80% of asthma in New Zealand is associated with allergies and many of these problems are linked to the moisture content of our homes.
- Damp houses encourage the growth of moulds, fungi and dust mites which are a key factor in respiratory problems.

ACD Features and Benefits

- The ACDX or ACDXH has been designed as a 'set and forget' system that will seamlessly do its job in the background.
- The system will 'make hay whilst the sun shines' bringing in solar heated air when available from the roof space and slowing to a 'maintenance' mode when the solar gain (warmth) is not available. This has the effect of not flooding the house with cold air, whilst over time still removing moisture.
- Adjustable for house size – Suits all sizes.
- Optional Inline Heater* with user adjustable heat settings (25%, 50%, 75% and 100%) and keypad controlled thermostat to temper incoming air.
- Optional Heat Transfer and optional Outside Air Kit – keypad controlled thermostat.
- Filter reminder displayed on keypad.
- The large range of settings allows for accurate matching to each home with easy adjustments if 'too little' or 'too much'.
- More than 17 years experience in the ventilation industry nationwide.

**Designed to temper incoming air - not heat home.*
